HEIRLOOM BEANS

AVAILABLE IN 5# BAGS

Black Garbanzo- An heirloom variety of the classic chickpea. Black garbanzo beans have a firm texture with a nutty flavor and subtle smoky and sweet notes. They can range from dark brown to black.

Black Turtle- A small, shiny black bean. Black turtle beans are the most common variety of black beans and are especially popular in Latin American cuisine.

Black Valentine- Medium size black bean, turning purple-black when cooked. Meaty texture, nutty flavor, cooks quickly.

Butter- A smooth, pale white bean. The texture of butter beans is similar to its name- buttery and creamy. Also known as baby lima beans.

Christmas Lima- Large, flat bean, bicolor-cream with dark maroon spots. They have a buttery texture and chestnut-like flavor.

Eye of the Goat- Tan beans with curved dark brown stripes with thin skin but are firm enough to hold their shape while cooking. Eye of the Goat, or Ojo de Cabra, have a wonderful natural flavor on their own yet are versatile enough to pair well with other flavors.

Good Mother Stallard- Deep maroon and white speckled beans with a creamy texture and nutty flavor. Good Mother Stallard beans are an excellent variety to prepare simply, to truly enjoy their natural flavor.

Green Black-Eyed Peas- Small, light green bean with distinctive black mark at sprouting point. Earthy sweet flavor & buttery texture. Used often in Caribbean/African cooking.

CHILI SMITH

NEW ADDITION TO OUR LOCAL PURVEYORS

We are proud to announce our new partnership with local heirloom bean distributor, Chili Smith! Chili Smith, located in Carmichael, CA, features local heirloom bean growers from Northern California. They select their growers based on their commitment to high quality products and safe, practical, and sustainable farming practices.

Hisatsu Red- A Native American bean originally from North Dakota. Nutty flavor, dark red color, medium size, and similar in texture to kidney beans.

Jacob's Cattle- Plum, white and red speckled, kidney shaped bean. Rich aroma and full flavor. Holds shape under long cooking.

Pebbles- Variety of colors. Tender skin and mild flavors make an excellent salad bean.

Peruano- A mild, buttery flavor with a creamy texture. Peruano beans range from ivory to light yellow in color and are very common in Latin American cooking.

Snow Cap- The Snow Cap bean is one of the most beautiful beans; with its tan color and a snow-cap of white along the side and spots of burgundy speckling overall. It has a creamy texture making it ideal for chowder. The markings on a Snow Cap beans remain after cooking and is excellent for soups.

Sunset Runner- Medium size purple and black bean with a creamy texture & distinct flavor. Excellent when used as a baked bean.

Tarbais- A somewhat flat, creamy white bean with a very thin skin that stands up well to longer cooking times. They are low in starch and very tender when cooked. Tarbais beans are very similar in size and color to Runner Cannellini beans but differ slightly in shape, as Tarbais are flat.
